Why follow up work environment?

Employers are responsible for preventing health risks in the workplace. In order to keep track of the organizational and social work environment, the organization needs to have regular and systematic surveys.

The work environment is changing, so it's important to continuously monitor developments in the organization to prevent risks.

What is Weekli?

Weekli is an employee survey that at each pulse asks 10 questions to employees about organizational and social work environment.

With the data generated, managers and management can make better decisions and work proactively with improvements in the organization - for the benefit of all!

What's in it for me?

Anonymity is important

As an employee, you can feel 100% confident that you're completely anonymous in Weekli since it's not possible to deduce who has answered what through encryption. If you are a member of a team with less than five people, that manager of that team will have access to some, but not all, group data.

This is what you do in Weekli

In the coach view,
you answer the Weekli
questions.

You can track your own data over time through dimensions and scales.

This is what you do in Weekli

You get insights based on how you have answered the questions in Weekli.

The Speak Up Chat allows you to start an anonymous chat with Speak Up Admin. The chat remains anonymous for as long as you want to.

Get started!

An invitation from Weekli is sent to your e-mail.

It's easiest to respond to your pulse via the app! In the app you can see your data and insights.

You will receive 30 questions when you sign up.

After that, you only answer 10 questions at each pulse.

You can also reply via a web link that is sent to your e-mail at every pulse.

Answer the questions as often as you can! With more data, better decisions can be made.

Good luck!
